News digest

NTT DoCoMo, Mm02 Sign Deal

TOKYO - Japan s top cell phone operator NTT DoCoMo Inc. and major British mobile carrier mm02 plc reached an agreement that will allow mobile telephone users in Britain, Germany, and Ireland to surf the Internet on the handsets, DoCoMo said Tuesday.

BlackBerry, Beloved Gadget, Continues to Thrive

BOUT a year ago, PalmOne was poised to challenge the dominance of the BlackBerry, the wireless e-mail device made by Research in Motion that has become the gadget of choice among celebrities and politicians.

Newest video games gun to be No. 1

Voters apparently weren t the only ones willing to stand in long lines. The release of this year s two hottest video games - Grand Theft Auto: San Andreas, and Halo 2 - had gamers lined up at stores across the nation to pick up their pre-ordered games.

Warning over rapid Arctic warming

With temperatures in the Arctic rising at twice the rate of elsewhere, the ice cover there will within the next 100 years completely disappear in summer and the biodiversity will change dramatically, according to a scientific study published this week.

King Pong Draws Fans

Spike TV's Video Game Awards Show attracts big-name celebrities and bands but gives the fans the votes.

AMD's Q3 led by strong Opteron, Athlon 64 sales

SAN FRANCISCO - As expected, Advanced Micro Devices Inc.'s (AMD's) third-quarter revenue came in a little under the company's earlier predictions, but strong increases in sales of its 64-bit desktop and server processors led to the company's fourth straight profitable quarter.