News digest

Governor #39;s proposal: New game, same strategy

If Gov. Rod Blagojevich s proposal to crack down on violent video game sales sounds familiar, look no further than the man he beat to become Illinois chief executive.

SpaceShipOne Rolls Toward Victory

MOJAVE, California -- A Southern California aerospace team took a big step toward capturing the $10 million Ansari X Prize Wednesday, but not without surviving a scary moment when the pilot found himself in a rapid spin as he roared across the threshold

Detailed View of Dione

Summary - (Nov 25, 2004) Cassini took this amazing photograph of Dione, one of Saturn s larger moons, on October 27 when it was 1.2 million km (746,000 miles) away.

Is Google the new devil?

Looks like Microsoft may have been biding its time to get back at search giant Google. Missing Links

Washington Contractors' Sales Increase

Companies that provide federal agencies with network integration and payroll accounting technologies are benefiting from a government trying to bolster its defenses against terrorism, experts say.
<FONT face="verdana,MS Sans Serif,arial,helvetica" size="-2" color="#666666"><B>-The Washington Post</B></FONT>

IBM Says Swamps Rivals in Key UNIX Computer Test

IBM (IBM.N: Quote, Profile, Research) said on Thursday its workhorse commercial computers have smashed the industry s most demanding tests, which analysts said creates